Sure Bet Three: Problem Gambling | Gaming and the College Experience

Problem gambling prevalence rates amongst teenagers and young adults have been reported to be higher than that of the general population. It's also during these sensitive years that many young adults step onto college campuses to experience their first few years of independence and make some very important initial life decisions. Many of these decisions will have life-long ramifications and are often influenced by the plethora of recreational options that are accessible to students in the modern era college experience. These options include all the gambling and gaming opportunities available today due to industry and technological developments. Learn about the vulnerabilities, motivations, and types of gambling that young adults encounter during their college years on our nation's campuses. Also, gain an understanding of prevention strategies and the clinical implications of serving this population during this phase of their young lives.

Sure Bet Training Series

To raise awareness and provide education, the North Carolina Problem Gambling Program (NCPGP) and the Division of MH/DD/SAS are sponsoring a pair of two-day workshops to provide in-depth knowledge about problem gambling and treatment interventions. In this training, topics of problem and pathological gambling, gambling counseling theory and practice, regulations and ethical issues and financial aspects of remuneration will be addressed. This training series is open to all who are interested.

Completion of the two events will meet one of the requirements necessary for the NCPGP Provider Registry. Participation in this training does not assure that a provider will be selected for the NCPGP Registry, but it is a required component of becoming an NCPGP provider.

Sure Bet One

What constitutes problem or pathological gambling? How do professionals assist individuals whose gambling is creating problems in their home and work lives? This two-day live workshop will provide in-depth knowledge about problem and pathological gambling and treatment interventions, gambling counseling theory and practice, regulations and ethical issues and financial aspects of treatment for pathological/problem gamblers.

Problem Gambling Webinar Series

The North Carolina Problem Gambling Program (NCPGP) is pleased to offer a series of free webinars focusing on the treatment of problem gambling. The NCPGP, along with the NC Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Use Services, Morneau Shepell, and UNC Chapel Hill School of Social Work/Behavioral Health Springboard work together to bring to our state the Sure Bet Training Series, and to develop the NCPGP Provider Registry. These webinars are intended to educate NCPGP Providers, as well as other behavioral health providers, about risk factors, incidence rates, impact, and treatment strategies for working with people with problematic gambling behavior.

For more information on the NCPGP visit <https://morethanagamenc.com>

Webinars are free but pre-registration is required. All webinars will occur at 12–1:00 p.m. EST
